

From: Stanionis, Victor
Sent: Tuesday, November 17, 2015 11:36 AM
To: May, Willie E. Dr. <willie.may@nist.gov>
Subject: Iona lecture

Dear Dr. May:

I would like to thank you so much for honoring us by delivering a wonderful lecture at Iona College on NIST last Thursday. I hope that your trip home was uneventful.

I collected twenty-eight student responses in which the students in describing their impressions of your lecture used comments such as well spoken, interesting, intriguing, and passionate. They commented on the role of NIST in forensic science, cybersecurity, defining the kilogram, and in advanced manufacturing. Some said they did not know NIST existed before this and were interested in its history. Another comment was on your intriguing background.

Again, thanks.

Victor

Victor Stanionis, PhD

Professor of Physics

Coordinator, Scientific and Technological Literacy

Iona College

New Rochelle, New York